RENEWAL IS TAKING SHAPE

There has been lots of exciting progress on the building this week. When Lori, Kate and I showed up to the weekly site meeting on Friday the parking lot was filled with trades people's vehicles.

Jennifer Keeble of Labbe-Leech toured us through the worksite explaining the current work. As you can see, it is safety first with everyone in hard hats and steel-toed work boots. If you look closely you can see Kate somehow managed to find pink work boots!

Speaking of safety, everyone on site needed ear protection early in the week with lots of jack hammering and cement saws. All the tile in the entrance way has been removed and they have cut through the foundation to access the sewer lines. As you can see in the photos, all the supporting plumbing for the bathrooms is now complete.

When I saw the electrical panel I told our electrician he was a miracle worker. The photo on the left shows the original rats nest of old wires much of which are hidden behind the lower cabinet!

This has been a great start. We are excited to see what the work crews have accomplished by next week!

Check out these interesting aerial photos showing the original property and the property as it is now. The octagonal house was originally built by a doctor in the early 1970's. The current property covers only the bottom right hand corner of the picture on the right. The size of the original property certainly matched the house. It included all of the present soccer fields now owned by the City! Thanks to Mark Perrin for the photos.
